1. Claims 3,6-9,11,14,16,17,19,21-24,26,28-33 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected group, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 27 Jan 05.

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1,2,4,5,10,12,15,18,20,25 and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Lynch et al.'890, who shows a perforator/slitter with all of the recited limitations including slitting knife (69) and a perforating wheel (68) having dull notches as seen in figure 3.

In regards to claim 12, disk 71 is considered to be an actuator, since rotation thereof moves the slitter into a cutting position.

4. Claims 1,2,10 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Willhite, Jr. et al.'045, who shows a perforator/slitter with all of the recited limitations including slitting knife (54) and a perforating wheel (44).

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3724

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 1,2,4,5,10,12,13,15,18,20,25 and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Willhite, Jr. et al.'045, who shows a perforator/slitter with most of the recited limitations, as set forth above.

Willhite's perforator is not drawn clearly, so it is not clear if it has dull notches between the teeth. However, Examiner takes Official Notice that such is a prevalent feature on perforating disks. An example of this is the patent to Lynch et al.'890 (68). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have employed a perforating disk having dull notches, as is known in the art and taught by Lynch, in order to not cut a continuous line, thus delivering the desired perforations.

In regards to claims 12 and 13, Willhite's slitter is selectively engageable with the work by pressing the work against the blade with elements 61 and 62. Examiner takes Official Notice that it is well known to instead employ pneumatic cylinders to move the slitting knife into engagement with the work. An example of this is the patent to Hawkin '085 (21,23). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have modified Willhite by employing a pneumatic cylinders to move the slitting knife into engagement with the work, as is well known and taught by Hawkins, since this is an art-recognized equivalent known for the same purpose. See MPEP 2144.06.

7. Made of record but not relied on are patents to Clar and Downing showing slitters selectively engageable to slit perforated lines.

8. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Ken Peterson at 571-272-4512, on Monday-Thursday, 7AM-5PM.
